Dear Jim,

J.P. Bowman Ltd. (Bowman Tools) has relied on the support from NETechnologies for over 6 years.

As a leading tool and die manufacturer, we rely on our systems, manufacturing and engineering computers to remain competitive in an increasingly competitive automotive market.

As our company competes in the global economy, we depend on implementing the latest technology and automation to remain competitive. NETechnologies has played a key role in this. With NETechnologies' training of our IT staff and providing critical support, we have successfully increased this competitive advantage.

As an engineer himself, Marinus of NETechnologies has an understanding of what our engineers require and provides solutions to satisfy these needs. This is one of the reasons NETechnologies has provided us with the strongest business IT solutions we could ask for.

We look forward to continued success in working with NETechnologies in the future.

Best regards,

James Bowman
